

What You Need to Know about Overdrafts and Overdraft Fees

An overdraft occurs when you do not have enough money in your account to cover a transaction, but we pay it anyway. We look at the available balance when determining whether there is an overdraft. Available balance is the ledger balance minus any deposits or withdrawals that are on hold or transactions that have been preauthorized that have not yet been debited from your account. We can cover your overdrafts in two different ways:

1. We have standard overdraft practices that come with your account.
2. We also offer overdraft protection plans, such as a link to a savings account or a line of credit, which may be less expensive than our standard overdraft practices. To learn more, please ask us about these plans.

This notice explains our standard overdraft practices.

What are the standard overdraft practices that come with my account?

We do authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions:

- Checks and other transactions made using your checking account
- Electronic ACH transactions

We do not authorize and pay overdrafts for the following types of transactions unless you ask us to (see below):

- ATM transactions
- Everyday debit card transactions

We pay overdrafts at our discretion, which means we do not guarantee that we will always authorize and pay any type of transaction.

If we do not authorize and pay an overdraft, your transaction will be declined.

What fees will I be charged if UMCU pays my overdraft?

Under our standard overdraft practices:

- We will charge you a fee of $30 each time we pay an overdraft.
- You will not be charged a fee on transactions less than $10 that overdraw your account.
- There is no maximum number of overdraft fees per day on your account.

Please refer to Section 14 of your Membership Agreement for important additional information on overdrafts.
